

Its seems that this is a little late in the game. I'm an early adopter and have invested considerable amount of money of HDTV equipment. Now I have to buy new equipment? Shouldn't this have been thought out at the point that the FCC was pushing local stations to switch they broadcast to HDTV and not two year later?

Thanks again for the excellent job you guys do.